 national ranking #42

The Escola Superior de Artes e Design (ESAD) in Matosinhos was founded relatively recently (1989) by a small group of deeply passionate professors who strongly believed in the project of a fresh, vibrant school able to stay ahead the ever-changing needs and evolutions of modern society.

Since then, the school has won several prizes and awards, through its students and professors, both nationally and internationally.

In addition, there are numerous seminars, conferences, exhibitions and meetings that secure a continuous and carefully updated training in the fields of architecture, design and arts, promoting a dynamic, lively cultural climate.

Points of strength

The school is organized and very efficient, its excellent quality and innovativeness find expression in an increasingly interdisciplinarity, founding principle of every contemporary institution.

Indeed, the teaching of architecture and interiors blends with that of design, arts (in particular the digital and multimedia ones) and fashion, also focusing on the issue of communication and its shades.

The School shapes a highly qualified architect figure, skilled in every aspect, able to intervene with competence and sense at any level of detail of the project, from its creative and artistic stages to the more executive and technological ones, always in a current and updated way.
